Summer £122 (£104 concs)
Have you ever wondered about writing but felt unsure of how to start? Do you write on your own but need some feedback? Are you an experienced writer looking for ways to develop your skills? This workshop will provide stimulating exercises and prompts to get started, some thought-provoking reading and lots of constructive advice. Ideal for both beginners and experienced writers. All genres of writing are welcome.

About the teacher: Penny Faith is a published author and playwright with an MA in Creative Writing from Sheffield Hallam University. For the past ten years she has also taught many classes and workshops in fiction writing and poetry, both for beginners and experienced writers. She takes a practical approach to teaching, using examples from novelists, poets and screenwriters as well as other triggers to encourage students to release their creative imagination.
